ARCHIVES

The Archives of the Forestry Office, Kabarole District

The archives of the Forestry Office are of considerable interest to anyone interested in the natural or environmental history of eastern Africa. Since the onset of colonial rule in the late 19th century government has set aside large tracts of land as state-run forests, including Bwindi, Budongo, and the Rwenzori Mountains National Park. The Forestry Office was responsible for the care and management of these large tracts of territory. In this archive are papers concerning the bureaucracy of natural resource management. But there is also rich material for natural scientists: records on rainfall, on vegetation, on wildlife, on soil and other matters.

Until 2010 the archive was kept in an attic above the local government building (called 'Boma'), under a leaky roof. The papers were an extremely bad state: the cardboard boxes in which they were kept had been inhabited with wasps, and many boxes had been subjected to rain. In 2012 the district government agreed that the Forestry Office papers should join the larger archive held by Mountains of the Moon University. With funding from the Cooperative Africana Materials Project, the University of Michigan and other donors, the collection was moved to the University's premises, where the dusty files were cleaned, organized, catalogued and scanned.

The greatest bulk of this considerable archive (consisting of over 500 boxes) is of course from the Forestry Office. There are also stray files from other government offices of Kabarole District which have been catalogued with this collection.

The cataloguing of the Kabarole District Forestry Office Archive was conducted in 2012 and 2013 by Mr. Akugizibwe Moses, Mr. Kimbugwe Adolph, Mr. Musinguzi Sylvester, and Ms. Baryabuza Anna, working under the district of Mr. Evarist Ngabirano.
